Foreword

This report provides national, State, and regional information on numbers of recipients and amounts of medical vendor payments made in their behalf under provisions of Title XIX of the Social Security Act (Medicaid) for the period July 1, 1972 through June 30, 1973. The data in the report were derived from Form SRS-NCSS-2082, Statistical Report on Medical Care: Recipients, Payments, Services. State agencies administering approved Title XIX programs were responsible for completing report forms and submitting them to the National Center for Social Statistics.

Previous reports in this series (B-4) were published for calendar years 1968-70 and fiscal year 1972.

Acknowledgment

This report was prepared by Henrietta Duvall, Chief, Medical Statistics Branch, National Center for Social Statistics, who was assisted by Annie Mayfield and Howard Gobstein. The computer programs for the tabulation of data were developed under the direction of Bernard Silverstein, Chief, Applications Support Branch, Division of Data Processing. The charts were prepared by Thelma Manley of the National Center.

HIGHLIGHTS

A total of 20 million recipients, an increase of 4.1 percent over the previous year, received services under Medicaid in fiscal year 1973 - Table A.

Medical vendor payments totalled 8.6 billion dollars, and the total expenditures under the program of $9.3 billion amounted to $44.06 per person in the United States - Chart I.

Nearly 15 million Medicaid recipients also received maintenance assistance in the form of money payments and there were 9 million children under 21 who received services under the program. Over 3 billion dollars were expended for recipients aged 65 and over in contrast to less than half that amount for children - Table B.

Medicaid expenditures averaged $432 per recipient. However, there was variation among eligibility categories with average payments ranging from $162 for dependent children under 21 to $1,093 for the permanently and totally disabled - Table C.

More than 13 million persons received physicians' services and more than 12 million received prescribed drugs - Table D.

Nearly $3 billion in vendor payments were made to general hospitals and payments to long term care facilities (skilled nursing homes, intermediate care facilities, and mental hospitals) amounted to $3.4 billion. Seventy percent of medical vendor payments were made for inpatient services - Chart II.

For money payment recipients, the highest proportion of payments were expended for general hospital inpatient services. For nonmoney payment recipients, more than two-thirds of the $3.9 billion expended in their behalf were for long-term care - Table E.

MEDICAID IN 1973

In fiscal year 1973, 20 million persons, nearly ten percent of the population had medical vendor payments totalling $8.6 billion made in their behalf under provisions of Title XIX of the Social Security Act (Medicaid). For the nation as a whole, the total expenditure for Medicaid per inhabitant was $44.06 in 1973 (See Chart 1). Two States, New York and California were responsible for almost forty percent of all Medicaid expenditures.

Composition of the 1973 Caseload

As shown in Table B, persons who also received public assistance money payments (Aid to Families With Dependent Children, Old-Age Assistance, Aid to the Blind, Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled) constituted nearly three-fourths of the 1973 caseload. The single largest eligibility category was dependent children under 21 years of age. Eleven percent of the children in the United States received medical services under the Medicaid program during the year. A shift was witnessed in 1973, between adults in families with dependent children and recipients aged 65 and over. There was a 13.2 percent increase in adults in families over 1972 and such recipients constituted the second largest proportion of the caseload (20.7 percent). In contrast, there was a slight decrease in aged recipients, even though intermediate care facilities which provide services largely for this age group were included under Title XIX for the first full fiscal year. Aged recipients constituted 17.7 percent of the caseload. Still, one of every six persons in the United States who were 65 years of age or older received services under Medicaid in 1973. Nearly two-thirds (63 percent) of the Medicaid caseload were females.

EXPENDITURES PER INHABITANT FOR MEDICAID-FISCAL YEAR 1973

Amounts of Payments by Groups of Persons Served

Payment proportions contrasted sharply with recipient patterns. Forty-five percent of Medicaid payments were made on behalf of nonmoney payment recipients. Payments on behalf of the aged and permanently disabled were more than twice as great as the recipient proportions, the differential being larger for the disabled, whereas payments for dependent children under 21 were slightly more than one-third of the recipient proportion. The highest proportion of payments (37 percent) was made on behalf of persons aged 65 and older, even though Medicare (Title XVIII) provides extensive medical coverage for this age group. As shown in Table C, average expenditures for nonmoney payment recipients were substantially higher for all eligibility categories, the differential being most marked for recipients aged 65 years and older where the 1973 payments averaging $1742 for nonmoney payment recipients were four times that for recipients of Old-Age Assistance.

Types of Services Received

As shown in Table D, two of every three medicaid recipients received physicians' services during 1973 and more than sixty percent received prescribed drugs. Outpatient hospital, laboratory and radiological, general hospital inpatient, and dental services were received by more than ten percent of recipients during the year. Among recipients aged 65 years and older, utilization of long-term care facilities was significantly higher than the total.

Payments by Type of Service, Maintenance Assistance
Status and Basis of Eligibility

The following Table E shows the distribution of vendor payments by type of service and by maintenance assistance status and basis of eligibility of the recipient. The table reveals that the bulk of payments for nonmoney payment recipients was to institutional (long-term care) facilities. In fact, the proportion of payments to general hospitals was more than twice as great for money payment recipients. Thus, the marked differences in recipient and payment distributions are almost entirely explained by the disproportionately high amounts of payments to institutional long-term care facilities for nonmoney payment recipients.

Medicare (Title XVIII) covers most of the cost of short-term hospitalization for recipients aged 65 and over which explains the small proportions of general hospital payments made in their behalf.

Payments by Type of Service

Seventy cents of every Medicaid dollar was spent for inpatient services in 1973. Although less than one in six Medicaid recipients received general hospital inpatient services, payments for such services constituted the largest share of the Medicaid dollar, 31 percent. The various long-term care inpatient services (mental hospital, skilled nursing, and intermediate care facility) comprised 39 percent of payments. Persons receiving such services represented at most 6.2 percent of the twenty million recipients. Physicians' services and prescribed drugs represented 11 and 7 percent of the payments, respectively.

CHART II.

DISTRIBUTION OF MEDICAID DOLLARS BY TYPE OF SERVICE
FISCAL YEAR 1973

Variations Among States

Over sixty percent of the population of Puerto Rico were Medicaid recipients in 1973. Among the contiguous States, New York (15.2%), California (14.9%), Massachusetts (12.6%), Rhode Island (11.4%), and Mississippi (11.3%) served the high proportions of their State population through the Medicaid program. The Virgin Islands (29.4%) and the District of Columbia (19.1%) also recorded an unusually high volume of Medicaid recipients relative to the population. The Medicaid program served the lowest proportion of the population in the States of Alaska and Wyoming. Ten States: California, New York, Puerto Rico, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Michigan, Massachusetts, Ohio, Texas, and New Jersey served one-half million or more recipients through the program. Caseloads for these States represented two-thirds of the total.

New York's payments totalled 2.3 billion dollars, which was more than one-fourth of the total and more than double the amount expended by California. Average payment per recipient for States with a full range of long-term care services ranged from $216 and $219 in Kentucky and Mississippi to $811 in New York. Similarly, New York recorded the highest per capita Medicaid payment of $125.87, nearly three times the national expenditure per inhabitant and nearly twice California's expenditure. Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, West Virginia, and Missouri reported payments ranging from $56 to $211 per recipient but their reports indicated that some long-term care services were not provided. The median average payment among States was $417, a 31 percent increase over the $319 reported in 1972. Increased service costs as well as the addition of intermediate care facilities were crucial factors for this increase.

Except for Alabama, Arkansas and Louisiana which reported the largest proportion of their caseload as aged 65 and over, all other States reported the largest proportion of recipients as dependent children under 21. Sixteen States reported over one-half of their caseload as persons under 21 years of age. The caseloads in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands were comprised largely of nonmoney payment recipients.

DEFINITIONS AND INTERPRETATIONS

Medicaid (Title XIX of the Social Security Act) is an assistance program designed to provide medical assistance to specified groups of needy individuals. Such persons are classified into two main groups according to their maintenance assistance status, (1) those who are authorized to receive money payments for their basic necessities under public assistance programs such as Aid to Families With Dependent Children, and (2) those who are not receiving maintenance assistance payments even though some may, in fact, be eligible. There are four basic eligibility requirements for medical assistance: (1) age 65 and over; (2) blindness; (3) permanent and total disability; and (4) membership in families with dependent children. In addition, some States have exercised the option of including other needy persons who do not fall into any of the above categories. Such recipients are classified as 'Other title XIX' recipients in the accompanying tables. Also, 'essential persons' (usually spouses) may also be eligible for medical care. For money payment recipients, these persons are usually classified according to the same eligibility factors as the recipient spouse.

In tables showing numbers of recipients, a total represents the unduplicated number of persons for whom vendor payments were made for one or more types of care during the year.

Amounts of payments do not include premiums paid for supplementary medical insurance under the Medicare program.

Age groupings on tables showing demographic characteristics of recipients do not necessarily agree with the eligibility criteria based on age. For example, a mother in an AFDC family is considered an adult regardless of age. Similarly, the spouse of a recipient who is 65 years of age or older may receive medical services on the basis of the qualifying spouse's eligibility criterion even though under age 65. Blind and disabled recipients may be any age with the limitation that disabled recipients must be 18 years of age or older.

Abbreviated definitions of the types of services for which data are reported are:

Inpatient hospital services - All items of care furnished to an inpatient and covered by the hospital's bill.

General hospital - A hospital maintained primarily for inpatient care of acute illness or injury and for obstetrics or tuberculosis.

Mental hospital - A hospital primarily engaged in providing psychiatric services for the diagnosis and treatment of mentally ill persons.

Skilled nursing home services - All services furnished to inpatients of, and billed for by, a licensed or formally approved nursing home that meets standards required under a title XIX program.

Intermediate care facility services - All services provided by an institution furnishing health-related care and services to individuals who do not require the degree of care provided by hospitals or skilled nursing homes.

Physicians' services - Services provided by an individual licensed under State law to practice medicine or osteopathy. Services covered by hospital bills are not included.

Dental services - Services, including ancillary services, provided by a dentist in the practice of his profession.

Other practitioners' services - Services of licensed practitioners other than physicians and dentists.

Outpatient hospital services - Services furnished to outpatients by a hospital.

Clinic services - Services furnished to outpatients by a facility which is not part of a hospital, but which is organized and operated to provide services to outpatients.

Laboratory and radiological services - Professional and technical laboratory and radiological services provided in an office or similar facility (other than a hospital outpatient department or clinic) or by a qualified laboratory.

Home health services - Services furnished a patient in his home, including: intermittent or part-time nursing service provided by a home health agency, or by a registered professional nurse or licensed practical nurse; medical supplies, equipment, and appliances for use in the home; and services of a home health aide.

Prescribed drugs - Drugs dispensed by a licensed pharmacist on the prescription of a practitioner licensed by law to administer such drugs, and drugs dispensed by a licensed practitioner to his own patients. This item does not include a practitioner's drug charges that are not separable from his other charges, or drugs covered by a hospital's bill.

Other care - Any medical or remedial care not covered by the above.

ANNOTATIONS

1. Arizona had no Title XIX program during fiscal year 1973.
2. Colorado, Guam, Massachusetts, New York, and Rhode Island did not submit reports for the fiscal year. Payments by type of service were cumulated from monthly reports for the four States. Recipient estimates by type of service and basis of eligibility for Colorado, New York, and Rhode Island were derived by NCSS from an extrapolation of the relationship between the 1972 counts and monthly data as well as the relationship between annual and monthly data for States that reported in 1973. Massachusetts recipient counts were estimated from monthly reports and average payments for reporting States. Estimates were derived for totals only and the States are excluded from demographic and selected recipient category tabulations.
3. Payments for some services may not be made directly to vendors but in the form of premium or per capita amounts into/to health maintenance organizations and health insuring agencies. Some States may experience difficulty in incorporating these data into their claims payment process such as California, where health maintenance organization recipients and payments were reported separately by type of service and maintenance status and Utah where data related to Delta Dental are excluded.
4. In Michigan, intermediate care facility services are included with nursing home services. Some States did not differentiate the two types of intermediate care facility services.
5. In some States, two or more types of services may be grouped under one class, as in Kansas where clinic, laboratory and radiological services are included in other services.
6. For Maryland and North Carolina, general hospital services do not include tuberculosis sanatoria.
7. Small differences occur in national totals as well as in some State totals due to rounding of dollar amounts.

Leaders indicate data not reported.
